DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The specification does not appear to support the limitations that the first and second seal machined into the body of the seal carrier (assuming that "seal carrier" refers to the "inner seal carrier" set forth in the claim). Rather, the specification discloses the first and second seals machined in the body of the seal retainer.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-8 and 11-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Smith (5,015,016) in view of Press (3,142,498).

Smith discloses a seal retainer 22 and female hydraulic coupling member 21. The retainer comprises a first metal seal 15 that will form a seal with a probe 13 and a second metal seal 55 that will create a pressure-energized seal between the retainer and member 21. The first seal is a lip seal. The second seal is a concave seal. The retainer includes an inner seal carrier 29. Smith does not disclose that the first and second seals are integral/machined with the body of the retainer. Press teaches a lip seal and retainer. Press teaches that making the lip seal integral with the body of the retainer (Fig. 3) is an art equivalent to providing them separately (Fig. 5). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the retainer of Smith by making the first and second seals integral with the retainer as such is an art equivalent construction as taught by Press. (Note: Cunningham '389 provides additional support that it is known to make a seal integral with a body.)

Regarding claims 4 and 16, Smith does not disclose that the lip is displaced about 0.001 inches. It is not considered inventive to discover the optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation absent the showing of some criticality of the claimed ranges. See In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233, 235 (CCPA 1955). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the seal such that it will be displaced about 0.001 inches.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 5-9-05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive and are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Either Press or Cunningham could be used to modify Fitzgibbons, also.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
